5.6 You also acknowledge that the Powergate Administration Dashboard may contain information which is classified as confidential by Alientech srl and You shall not disclose such information without Alientech srl prior written authorization.

6. Your Obligations

6.1 You represent and warrant that You will:

- a) Inform Your End-Users that some control units may not fully correspond to the model researched by Alientech srl, supported by the Tool and listed in the Vehicle List of the Powergate Administration Dashboard.
- b) Inform Your End-Users that software or hardware variations of the control unit may compromise the proper working of the Tool or vehicle.
- c) Inform Your End-Users about the risk associated with the reprogramming of a vehicle, such as, but not limited to:
 - modifying engine or automatic management parameters may render the vehicle out of compliance with the requirements and standards of the country where the vehicle is used with respect to power, speed, and emissions. It may also lead to a different or greater wear and tear of mechanical, electrical, and electronic components of the vehicle and could void the warranty provided by the manufacturer/seller of the vehicle.
 - the Tool may enable modifying the functioning of the vehicle; therefore, the vehicle may have different reactions when compared to standard conditions specified by the manufacturer. The greatest attention must be paid when driving a vehicle which has its engine or automatic transmission parameters modified.
 - under no circumstances should the Tool be used to break or circumvent the laws and/or regulations of the country of use of the vehicle.
 - the use of the Tool must always take place in safe conditions, i.e. with vehicle parked stationary and engine turned off. However, if an engine start is required, the parking brake must be properly engaged, and the gear stick must be in the neutral position-or N (for automatic transmission). If the vehicle is not equipped with a parking brake, it is necessary to ensure the vehicle cannot move and cause damage to people or things.
 - the Tool is intended only for the tuning of vehicles for limited competition purposes, uses in racing circuits not open to public or off-road environments.
 - the Tool should not be used in a location exposed to static electricity or strong electrical interference.
 - when reading or programming data with the Tool, if the communication between the Tool and the control unit were to be interrupted, serious problems may occur, which may lead to the complete failure of the control unit, with consequent need for its replacement. Therefore, during these operations the cable necessary for the communication between Tool and vehicle should never be disconnected.

- d) Inform Your End-Users that in case the vehicle's control unit is not the original factory-installed one, or has been cloned, or has undergone a previous modification operation to disable or bypass some anti-pollution or emissions control systems, writing any kind of file may cause a control unit malfunction. This can result in irreversible damage to the control unit, causing the vehicle to become inoperable without any possibility of recovery, i.e. the vehicle may not be started or operated after such a writing. Therefore, it is strongly recommended that You ask a series of questions to your End-User to try to determine whether the control unit has undergone previous modifications or has been replaced.
- e) Carefully read the notices provided within the list of supported vehicles in the Powergate Administration Dashboard, which are intended to indicate the actions to be taken before delivering a Tool such as, but not limited to, checking the type of diagnostic socket on the end-User's vehicle in order to send the correct cable to connect the Tool to the vehicle or the need to have the control unit sent to you for the application of the patch needed to enable file writing through the diagnostic socket.
- f) Check with Your End-Users the minimum system requirements of their mobile device before selling the Tool.
- g) Provide Your End-Users only with original cables or accessories supplied by Alientech srl.
- h) Provide Your End-Users with technical support about the Tool. You are the only one entitled to access Alientech srl Ticket Portal to ask for advanced support.
- i) Provide Your End-Users with basic information about the operation of the Tool and the Powergate App, specially informing the End-User that, during communication with the control unit, messages, warnings and/or errors may appear on the vehicle dashboard due to the Tool's communication with the control unit and that such messages, warnings and/or errors will disappear when the engine is first started or after driving a few kilometers.

6.2 You specifically clear Alientech srl from all liability, of any kind and nature, in relation to any damage, injury, loss or claim or cost of any kind and species, caused to You, Your End-User or any third party arising from Your failure to comply with the above-listed provisions.
